NOTES FOR ADVERTISERS

Some advertisers send drafts in bold, UPPER CASE, Font Size 28, in all the colours of the rainbow, in the hope that they will attract more attention. PLEASE DON'T BOTHER ! Some modest use of colour is OK, but anything else will be cut back to what blends in with the rest of AndAds. Also, please put the words in the body of your email – they are easier to edit that way, maximum 5 cm. Advertisements will usually appear in two issues, wait a month, then two more issues. DON'T FORGET TO TELL ME IF THE ITEM IS SOLD.

A RECIPE FROM CHRISTINE - FRUIT, NUT & HONEY BARS

better than anything you can buy and far healthier.

12" X 7" X 1 1/2" tray-bake tin, lightly greased with butter paper on the bottom.

6 oz unsalted butter,
3 oz light soft brown or Demerara sugar,
5 oz honey,
5 oz (150ml) fresh orange or apple juice,
Finely grated zest of 1 orange,
10 oz porridge oats,

5 oz dried dates, chopped,
5 oz dried apricots, chopped,
3 oz chopped walnuts, hazelnuts or almonds,
5 oz mixed seeds such as pumpkin, sesame, sunflower.
3 oz flour (any)

Preheat oven to 180°C. Put the butter, sugar, honey, fruit juice and zest into a large saucepan over a low heat and stir from time to time until the butter has melted and the ingredients are blended together.

Remove from the heat, add the oats, flour, dates, apricots, nuts and seeds. Stir well – it's quite wet.

Spread mixture evenly in the tray-bake pan and sprinkle some extra nuts and seeds on top if you like. Push them in a bit otherwise they fall off when baked.

Bake approx 40 - 45 minutes until golden brown on top and looking scrunchy round the sides. Leave in the tin to cool before turning out. Cut into squares or fingers with a sharp knife. Keeps in a tin, plastic box or seal-type bag in the fridge for 2 or 3 weeks, or can be eaten straight from the freezer, albeit more crunchy and chewy !!

P.S. You can alternate by putting other healthy things in, like raisins, sultanas, dried mixed apple, peach, prunes, etc.
